Rockville, Maryland February 22, 2007: Greg Baughman, President of The Morningtown Group LLC (MTG) a Veteran-owned, SBC HUB Zone certified Information Technology Company and member of the Computer Security Institute, stated in a personal interview today that a developers Partnership Agreement was under review for ratification by MTG and InterSystems Corporation--the owners of the technology known as Cache', a Rapid Application Development platform based on Digital Systems Mumps. Mr. Baughman further stated that "the formation of this partnership between InterSystems Corporation and MTG and the dedication of all members to work together will assist us in providing an effective automated regulatory compliancy solution to its customers aligning security mandates to identify customer assets, analyze threats, define acceptable levels of risk, and put in place targeted remediation. "As a result, heretofore complex processes will be streamlined, and organizations can achieve greater efficiencies in information assurance than ever before possible.

The Morningtown Group LLC was created as an organization to help customers solve the ever growing threat and rising costs of maintaining the security of their IT infrastructure. Today the MTG brings together computer security product solution providers and subject matter experts to offer unprecedented customer specific, cost effective and fully integrated cyber security solutions."

Vic Stemberger, CEO of The Morningtown Group, stated: As a small company dedicated to world class service to the health care industry, we are thrilled to announce our partnership with InterSystems. We both understand the critical needs of the industry for comprehensive security and information assurance services, and together we will be better able to meet these needs across the health care industry. To that end, we are also pleased to announce our mutual commitment to the final development and mid-2007 launch of a comprehensive application for information assurance and compliance (SecureEnt) that will better meet the unique requirements of the health care industry than any other application currently available."

Mark Beckmeyer, Vice President of The Morningtown Group LLC Security Division stated, "The Morningtown's application--called "SecureEnt"--will be unique to the Health Care information security industry and more specifically to those organizations that are considering the Regional Health Information Organization (RHIO's) as it provides a forum from which multiple providers are able to address complex information assurance challenges with creative innovation and best of breed security solutions"
